

~~X 15~~

20

cause him to wish to get off his right lower extremity. He would have no limitations on his ability to be seated.

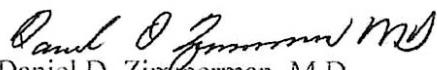

Treatment for the calluses on the right foot and right great toe should be initiated as soon as possible. The prognosis at this time is unknown.

IME DISCLAIMER: The opinions in this case are the opinions of this examiner. This examination has been conducted on the basis of the representation of the claimant and the medical examination with the assumption that the claimant's representations are true and correct. If more information becomes available at a later date, an additional service/report or reconsideration may be requested -such information may or may not change the opinions rendered in this evaluation. The opinions in this report are based on reasonable medical probability. Medicine is both an art and a science. Although a person may appear fit to return to duty, there is no guarantee that the person will not be re-injured or suffer additional injury once the person returns to any specific activity. This opinion does not constitute a recommendation for specific claims or administrative functions to be made or enforced.

These medical opinions are offered to a reasonable degree of medical certainty.

I hope this input is helpful.

Sincerely,

Daniel D. Zimmerman, M.D.

DDZ:lh

My attorney never discussed these medical findings with me, never explained their significance, and never advised me that the documented ongoing disability, unknown prognosis, and need for immediate treatment implicated legal rights beyond workers' compensation. I relied on counsel to interpret and communicate these findings, and his failure to do so—while controlling the evidence and communications—prevented me from discovering additional legal remedies and caused delayed discovery, warranting equitable tolling.